Why Reading Just 20 Minutes a Day Can Help Your Child Succeed in School

Reading Is "Brain Food"

Our brains develop as we "feed" them with experiences. The experience of reading (whether you're the reader or the one being read to) activates and "exercises" many of the areas of the brain. The visual cortex works as your eyes track the words on the page and look at the illustrations. Your memory makes connections between what you already know and the topic of the story. You integrate new information learned through reading further strengthening and growing your network of knowledge.

Reading Improves Academic Performance

There is a strong correlation between a child's ability to read and his or her academic performance. Because so much of our schooling relies on our abilities to read, children must have strong reading skills to succeed and thrive in school.

Reading Just Makes "Cents"

For every year that a person spends reading (either independently or being read aloud to), his or her lifetime earning potential goes up considerably. For a time investment of approximately 87 hours a year (20 minutes a day for 5 days a week), you can increase your child's ability to support him or herself in the future considerably.

Reading also improves listening skills and early literacy skills.

July 15-18, 2019

Kindergarten Camp is a four day summer program for rising kindergarten students designed to acclimate them to school routines, procedures, and rules with a literacy focus. Thematic units are designed for each day that are built around exciting and engaging children's literature. While the program is optional, we do encourage parents allow their child to attend. The program will be held July 15-18 from 8:00am to 12:00am. Transportation will be provided each day after students are dropped off on the first day by parents and registration is confirmed. Please note that only registered students may attend.

DON'T FORGET

Students that have not registered for school by July 31st will not be permitted to attend school on the first day.
